Classroom News

Welcome to our September/October Newsletter

Bulletin de Septembre/Octobre

September at La Petite École Montessori has been filled with exciting moments as the children settled into their daily routines with enthusiasm. The children have enjoyed participating in our weekly activities such as 'News Time' Mondays, dance, yoga or drama Tuesdays, French and PE on Wednesdays, arts & crafts on Thursdays and fun day Fridays! The children are forming wonderful bonds and we encourage these connections as they grow together. Our inquisitive explorers have been actively investigating the classroom and interacting with the Montessori materials.

Family Wall: The children had the opportunity to bring a piece of home to school by placing a photo of their family on our family wall and sharing stories about their loved ones.

Lunch Mats: In the spirit of encouraging healthy eating habits, the children embarked on a creative journey by designing their own individual lunch mats.

Our Theme Table

In September, we delved into captivating themes, including 'All About Me,' where the children learned about self-identity and 'Healthy Eating,' discovering the importance of nutrition.

As October arrived, we shifted our focus to the enchanting themes of Autumn and Halloween, unraveling the beauty of changing seasons and the excitement of this spooky holiday!

Our 'Theme Table' showcases materials and books aligned with our monthly themes, and the children are welcome to contribute items to display.

Our Classroom Art

As we were exploring the theme of 'All About Me,' the children enthusiastically expressed their individuality and creativity through self-portraits. These vibrant and personal artworks serve as a colourful reflection of each child's unique personality and talents. The self-portraits not only showcase their artistic skills but also remind us of the wonderful diversity and individuality present in our classroom, making it a space where every child's identity is celebrated and cherished.

Embracing the beauty of the changing seasons, the children eagerly embraced the spirit of autumn by crafting intricate mandalas using fallen leaves. With an array of colours and shapes at their disposal, they carefully arranged the leaves into mesmerising patterns, capturing the essence of this vibrant season. These autumn mandalas not only encouraged creativity and fine motor skills but also fostered a deep appreciation for nature's wonders. They now hang in our classroom as a testament to the children's artistic talents and their connection to the natural world. Additionally, they also created charming autumn trees using lentils, adding another layer of creativity to our classroom's seasonal decor.

Our Nature Table

Our classroom nature table is a dynamic, ever-evolving space where children can add natural treasures they discover, from colourful leaves to intriguing rocks and delicate feathers. This interactive feature allows them to connect with nature at their own pace, encouraging hands-on learning and sparking conversations about the world around us. Throughout the day, our little explorers can visit the nature table, touch, feel, and discover the beauty of the great outdoors right here in our classroom. It's a wonderful way to encourage their inquisitive minds and instil a lifelong love for nature.
